EXPERIENCE OF AN ARMY CHAPLAIN

REV. ROBIN GOULD, RECENTLY DISCHARGED, SPEAKS AT SOUTH METHODIST

REVEAL GOOD CHARACTER

Facing Death Brings Out True Qualities of Men, He Said; Advises Home Folks to Be Generous in Their Praise of Heroes

Rev. Robin Gould, former pastor of the Hundley Methodist church at St. Joseph, who has just returned from service overseas as a chaplain in the United States Army, being attached to the 89th Division, spoke at the South Methodist church at the service yesterday morning.

Rev. Gould did not touch upon the grewsome side of the life in the triotic and religious character of the American doughboys which underlaid trenches, but rather told of the patheir rough manner and talk.

"Just before my division went into the Argonne," said Rev. Gould, "we held a short religious meeting, and it was wonderful the way these men, just about to face death itself, revealed true character. Many of them sat in the dug outs and read their Bibles, and practically every man in the division wrote letters to their dear ones at home. The American soldier was not a saint before he went over, and his life over in France did not help to make him so while there, but he was not a heathen and the great majority held a belief in the great God above."

Rev. Gould stated that the American soldiers were prone to grumbling and dissatisfaction when they were in comparatively safe quarters, but that when they were up in the front lines suffering the tortures of a veritable hell, they never had a word of complaint, and were thoroughly loyal to their country and the great cause for which they were fighting.

The speaker brought out that many of the charges of graft against the French and English, were really German propaganda, and that although the American soldiers did not always get along well with the foreign troops, due to a great extent through misunderstanding of language and customs, it was usually in petty matters that the trouble came about, and that all the Allied soldiers were brothers in the fight for the great cause of freedom and humanity.

In speaking of the after effects of the war, Rev. Gould told his audience that the United States should be on her guard now more than ever before, for intemperence and evil. "We must continue to fight for the high ideals for which we went into this war," he said, "and there must be no slackening of the lines. The men who went over there had a lofty purpose in mind which they were willing to give their lives for, and it would be a great wrong if the thousands of lives which were given in the great conflict, were sacrificed in vain for these principles."

"After such a struggle, such as we have just passed through, it is natural for the reaction to come which will take us back to a place even lower than that before the war, and it is such a thing that we must continually guard against."

At the close of his address Rev. Gould told of the idea of home coming which sustained the boys through the darkest days on the battle fronts, and he urged that this home coming be as bright and cheerful and enthusiastic as the home folks could possibly make it. "Do not be afraid of spoiling the boys with too much praise," he said, "they are deserving of all that can possibly be given them and more too."

CAPTAIN WALLIS AT HOME

Was First Nodaway County Physician to Enter Military Service—To Resume Practice at Once.

Captain William M. Wallis, Jr., arrived in the city Saturday evening from a fifteen months' absence in the army medical service. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wallis, who has been living in New York City during her husband's absence abroad.

Captain Wallis was the first Nodaway county physician to enter military service and shortly after his induction, he was sent to France. He was appointed chief of the operating staff in the hospital at Souilly, France, a hospital on the front line, and he remained there until after the signing of the armistice. He was then appointed chief of the evacuation hospital at Dax, France, and was there until January first. Since that time Captain Wallis, has been chief of the surgical service in the evacuation hospital at Bordeaux, France. During this time 20,000 men have been received and discharged through the hospital.

Wallis will resume his practice here, taking his partnership again with Dr. Charles T. Bell, who returned to Maryville April 1, after a period of military service.

ONLY 13 LICENSES ISSUED BY THE COUNTY RECORDER THIS MONTH

NOT A "BRIDAL MONTH"

Fewer Marriegs in June Than Any Month Yet Except March—Many Brides in Cities.

In many communities it is reported that June has been a great month for marriages and that June brides are as popular as the poets would have us believe. Nodaway county, however, following its traditional tendency had comparatively few marriages in "the bridal month." Only thirteen marriage licenses were issued by County Recorder Dan R. Baker, for June, the smallest number of licenses issued during this month for many years. 1919 has been a poor year for brides, at the best, and with the exception of March, June had fewer brides to its credit than any month of this year.

In looking over the records in the recorder's office one is impressed by the fact that June has always stood near the bottom of the list in such matters. This is probably due to the fact that Nodaway county is primarily an agricultural community and young couples prefer to make their start in life with the beginning of activities on the farm in the spring. The records bear out this theory.

The large number of June brides in the cities this year may be attributed to the fact that many soldiers are now returning and numerous romances, delayed by the war, are culminating in marriages.

PARASITES WILL KILL ARMY WORM

THE TACHINA FLY AND WHITE WASP-LIKE INSECT BUSY

FEW FALL ARMY WORM

Morning Visit to College Experiment Field Shows That the Pest Is Being Effectually Destroyed by Parasites.

The second crop of Army worms is due to come sometime in September but there is little danger that they will come in sufficient numbers to cause any material damage to the crops.

The chief reason for this is that two different parasites are working on them and will continue to do so the rest of the summer, killing most of them before they will be old enough to do any damage.

One of these parasites is a white wasp-like insect which emerges from the cocoon stage and attacks the Army worm, destroying great hosts of them. These parasites are very small, being hardly visible to the naked eye.

The other parasite is known as the Tachina Fly. The Tachina Fly is a larger, blockier fly than the well known house fly with white lines running lengthwise its thorax and white spots on the front of the wings. This fly lays its eggs upon the Army worm in the worm stage which eggs hatch out into maggots that feed upon the worm and gradually kill it.

Many of these flys have already hatched out, although they can still be found in the ground in the pupa stage. The pupa of the Tachina is dark reddish in color and can be discovered by digging around the roots of the alfalfa stalks.

The Army worm will be in the moth stage in about a week now and will remain in that stage for a period of three or four weeks. Examinations of the alfalfa experimental field this morning by Prof. L. F. Metzler of the State Teachers College showed that the Tachina Fly is very active and that the Army worms are being destroyed in great numbers so that there is little danger of a repetition of the destruction of a month ago by the pest.

THE MARYVILLE COMETS IN ANOTHER VICTORY

The Bedford Nine Was Taken Into Camp by a 9 to 0 Count.

The Maryville Comets added another victory to their growing list yesterday by defeating the Bedford aggregation with a 9 to 0 count. Bedford got off to a bad start in the first inning when the Comets garnered 5 runs. Three hits were all that Bedford could find Bluel for while the local boys touched Lewis for five hits. Despite the one-sided score the game was fast and interesting throughout.

The crowd at yesterday's contest was not as large as it should have been Unquestionably the home team is "going good" and deserves more support than it has been receiving of late. So far this season only one game has gone to the visitors and that by a comparatively close margin.

Manager Black has arranged for a game to be played with Albany the Fourth. Since this is the only attraction for those who remain in the city to celebrate that day to attend, a record breaking crowd is looked for.

Next Sunday the fast Stuppy Florals of St. Joseph will attempt to put a crimp in the local aggregation's hopes for another victory. This promises to be a game that will put the Comets to the "acid test."

JOHN BARLEYCORN MUST ABDICATE

HIS RULE TO END AT 12 o'CLOCK TONIGHT

OLD SALOON A MEMORY

For First Time in History the Nation Will Be Legally Dry—Little Hope for "Wets" Now.

Tonight at 12 o'clock King John Barleycorn withh abdicate and nation wide prohibition will become a realty.

The reign of King John has been a long and eventful one but his day of power is at an end and his banishment is final. He still has numerous friends but, like most kings, the number of his friends are in the minority and unable to prevent the inevitable.

Tomorrow the sun will rise for the first time in the history of the country on a legally dry nation. The buying of alcoholic beverages over the bar will be only a memory, and like most memories, with the passing of time will lose its glamor and become a tradition to be told the next generation.

The swinging door of the "poor mans club" will not close in many instances, though, for the Salvation Army is of the opinion that the corner saloon is possible of a great transformation into a gathering place where much good may be done. The bar fixtures, the railing, and in many cases the bar tenders will be retained and will dispense soft drinks of various kinds.

There is a slight possibility that the saloons may open up for a few months prior to the time when the constitutional dry amendment will go into force next January, if the president by proclamation should declare the war at an end and demobilization to a peace time basis completed. This possibility has many difficulties in its way, however, for there is a question whether the war will be legally over until the Senate ratifies the peace treaty which, according to present indications, will take some time to materalize.

SKIDMORE MAN KILLED AT ST. JOSEPH YESTERDAY

Ashley C. Littler Struck by Burlington Train Near Francis Street Depot Survived by Brother and Sister.

Ashley C. Littler, 60 years old, a resident of Skidmore, was killed yesterday afternoon near the Francis street depot in St. Joseph, when he was struck by a Burlington passenger train.

His body was hurled several feet and death occurred a few moments after the accident. Witnesses say he was standing between two sets of tracks. A freight train was moving north on one track and the passenger was going south on the other track. Little was apparently standing too close to the tracks on which the passenger was running, witnesses say.

Dr. Forrest Thomas, coroner, viewed the body, which was removed to the H. O. Sidenfaden rooms. The ambulance had been called to carry Littler to the hospital.

He is survived by one brother, J. E. Littler, of Skidmore, and one sister, Mrs. E. A. Jones of Stillwater, Okla.

At Borgosanloranzo, fifteen miles from here, a church collapsed and went tumbling down the mountainside. Meanwhile, the region of Mugello has been shaken by earthquakes. Telegraphic communication has been interrupted and it is impossible to obtain any accurate information regarding the loss of life and propeity.

BREWERS DECIDE BEER STANDARD.

Chicago, June 30.—The Chicago Brewers Association decided not to manufacture beer with more than one half per cent alcohol.

BONE DRY JULY 1?

Washington, June 30.—That John Barleycorn, although battered and bruised has not given up the ghost without a struggle, was evident from the situation on the event of the war time prohibition becoming effective. With no enforcement code enacted, and with the President having plainly said that he would set aside the band if he had the authority, just how bone dry the country could be, was merely a matter of conjecture today. The enforcement code which was reported to have been laid out by the House Judiciary committee, cannot be passed within two weeks, and it is believed that it will be enacted only after a bitter fight. The department of justice officials are making preparations, it was learned today to prosecute all direct violations of the war time law, from tomorrow until the enforcement code is enacted.

INDUSTRY IS BEING ADAPTED

Breweries and Distilleries Now Operating Along Other Lines; 5,000,000 Acres More for Food.

Despite the various efforts to stay the coming into effect of prohibition there is in progress a pretty general adaptation of the manufacturing properties to other industrial uses, is the conclusion of Lindley D. Clark, in an article on the subject which is to appear in the forthcoming Monthly Labor Review for June. To some extent at least, Mr. Clark finds, barroom fixtures will be found available for continued use, and the "poor man's club," as the saloon has been called by various classes of persons, will be still available if initiated plans prove successful.

These plans contemplate the transforming of the saloons into places where soft drinks may be sold anad refreshments served by former bartenders. The Salvation Army has already made a beginning in this line of work in Baltimore and New York, and its extension is in view for the large cities of the country.

Mention is made of two efforts that are now under way to stay the effect of the prohibition amendment that has legally been adopted by 45 of the 48 States. The first attempt is an attack on the authority of the legislatures in those States which have the referendum to ratify the amendment. The argument on which such line of procedure is based is that under the referendum the legislative authority of the State is reserved to the people and the legislature may not ratify if referendum is invoked.

The other line of attack rests upon a resolution adopted by the legislature of Rhode Island in which the attorney general of that State was directed to begin action in the name of the State to contest the constitutionality upon the police power of the State and "contrary to the spirit and system of the dual form of government erected by the Constitution."

Little encouragement is held out to those who hope sentiment among the returning soldiers will effect a repeal of the prohibition amendment. The remark has been frequently made that when the soldiers return to civil life there will be a vigorous and effective protest against the action taken in their absence. No real preponderance of opinion has been obtained on this point, but both friends and opponents of the measure confidently announce enthusiastic approval or disapproval of their respective views by the soldiers with whom they have come into contact.

It seems reasonable to assume that as they represent the whole area of the country, so also do they represent the diverse opinions in an average ration, and that no unity of action is to be expected from them on this or any similar question on which men differ. Furthermore, the Congress which submitted the amendment was elected in 1916, with all voters at home, and with the attitude of candidates on the question an issue in many congressional districts.

Industrial conditions resultant upon the inception of prohibition have been in a large measure anticipated. The end of the use of grain and other materials in distilleries necessarily meant the closing of such places when materials in process of manufacture were worked up, and in the abnormal conditions of the time the distribution of the workers caused little, if any, disturbance. The breweries, too, tho in less degree, have already made partial adjustments and are converted into plants for a variety of uses, as cold-storage plants, packing houses, ice factories, canneries, creameries, factories for the production of soft drinks, ice cream, syrup, paint, soap and chemicals.

A large development is forecast in the production of denatured alcohol for industrial purposes, using for this purpose many products not suitable for the manufacture of spirits for beverage use. It has been estimated that the produce of 5,000,000 acres of land will become available for feed in place of being consumed in the manufacture of intoxicants.

"Printer's Devil.

There is a reason for all the colloquialisms used in the trades, the expressions being generally used, while the explanations of origin is usually known to only a few. Next to the word "scab," which is now well enough known to be put in a dictionary, the one probably most familiar to the public is the "printer's devil." Ninety per cent of the printers do not know why he is so called.

Aluds Manutius, the story goes, was a printer in Venice to the holy church and the doge, and employed a negro boy to help him in his office. The boy was believed to be an imp of Satan by superstitious people of Venice and in order to protect him from persecution Manutius made a public exhibition of him and invited any who did not believe he was flesh and blood to come forward and pinch him. The people were satisfied, but the name, "the printer's devil," had come into too general use to be dropped, and to this day the young imps of Satan who go in a printing office to learn the trade are called printer's devils.

JEFFERSON CITY LETTER

Interest in Road Work in State Is the Greatest Ever—Bonds Issued and Up for Vote Reach $33,599,175.

By MEANS RAY.

Interest in road building in Missouri is far greater than ever in the history of the state and every indication points to the construction of several thousand miles of the best roads in the country during the coming year.

Bond issues have been voted or plans are being made to vote them in counties which bring the total amount to $33,599,715, to this will be added a like amount from the state and federal governments which will make the improvements during the next year, from bonds alone, reach a total of approximately $67,000,000.

In addition to this will be added the regular road levy and poll tax of the state and special taxes which are being levied in the state.

Money and work donated during the year is estimated at $2,000,000 by the State Highway Commission which gave out the figures on which this article is based.

A. W. Graham, chief engineer of the Commission, is more than enthused with the interest that is being shown by the people of the state and expresses the belief that more than double the amount now proposed by the people of the state will be provided by bond issues in addition to the $60,000,000 issue submitted by the legislature on recommendation of Governor Gardner.

The following are the counties which have selected dates for bond issues or are circulating petitions calling for a submission of the question:

Green, $2,000,000; Laclede, $250,000; Texas, $225,000; Howell, $500,000; Jasper, $250,00; St. Francois, $1,000,000; Franklin, $1,000,000; Phelps, $400,000; Warren, $400,000; Dunklin, $230,000; Butler, $500,000; Oregon, $300,000; Stoddard, $200,000; Ripley, $120,000; Scott, $261,465; Gentry, $100,000; Clay $100,250; Harrison, $113,000; Livingston, $1,250,000; Atchison, $1,000,000; Andrew, $1,250,000; DeKalb, $1,250,000; Clinton, $1,250,000; Ray, 1,250,000; Nodaway, $2,000,000; Davies, $1,000,000; Carroll, $1,100,000; Macon, $500,000; Shelby, $1,000,000; Monroe, $1,500,000; Linn, $1,000,000; Sullivan, $1,000,000; Putnam, $750,000; Marion, $1,500,000; Adair, $750,000.

Bonds aggregating several millions have been voted heretofore in the state. Some of the counties having done so are. St. Louis, $3,000,000; Buchanan, $2,000,000; Scott, $1,000,000; New Madrid, $500,000; Wayne, $300,000; Cole, $300,000.

Special road districts all over the state have voted an amount which it is thought will aggregate more than the county issues.

The Equal Suffrage League of the state held an interesting meeting here Monday. At a banquet given during the evening a number of excellent talks were made. Ben M. Neale, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and other political leaders, were here for the meeting. The women were strong in their desire for a League of Nations and many were the expressions favoring this method of world peace. They maintain the mother knows what war means.

TUBERCULOSIS IN CATTLE.

Jefferson City, June 30.—That there is a wide range of difference in the actual value of cattle from a clean herd as compared to those from herds infected with tuberculosis, and that all cattle for dairy or breeding purposes should be tested before being bought and paid for, is the advice of State Veterinarian Dr. D. F. Luckey of the Missouri Board of Agriculture.

Prospective purchasers of cattle for dairy or breeding purposes are warned to have such cattle carefully tested or tuberculosis by some competent veterinarian. Recent state and federal inspections have shown that numberous innocent purchasers have been the victims of shrewd dealers in tuberculous cattle.

In one shipment of 31 yearling cattle from Iowa a recent test found 22 diseased with tuberculosis. In another case, four different Iowa herds since January 1, were found diseased and have been condemned on account of tuberculosis.

It appears that the inspection of cattle for tuberculosis is sometimes inefficient or even dishonest. Therefore, it is highly advisable that all valuable breeding stuff be held in isolation for 90 days and retested. Cattle coming from outside of the state should be bought subject to this retest.

The new Missouri indemnity law effective on and after May 13, 1919, provides that no indemnity can be paid for any animal unless the purchaser demands and secures an offfcial certificate of health from the seller. In neglecting to secure and preserve the proper certificate of health on newly purchased stock the owner there after endangers his rghts to indemnity under the state law.

A YOUTHFUL ADVENTURESS

Seven-Year Old Maryville Girl Had Struck Out to Find Mother in Kansas City.

A little girl, seven years old, got off the Burlington train from Maryville, Mo., yesterday afternoon and walked into the Union Passenger Station. She went to Mrs. Annie Walker, the Y. M. C. A. Traveler's Aid secretary. She gave her name and said she was going to Kansas City to visit an aunt. However, she had but 57 cents, all in pennies, and in a little bank. Mrs. Walker decided to investigate the case before sending the child on her way and taak her to the Nora Hundley Home for the night. Then the facts came out. The little gorl's parents were divorced and both have remarried. She lives with her father, but didn't like her stepmother and had determined to make her way to her mother, whose address, in Kansas City, she did not know.

RECORD MOTOR CAR SALES

New Missouri Laws Make Theft a Felony—Garage Owners To Keep Record.

Jefferson City, June 30.—Stealing a motor car in Missouri now is as grave an offense as it has been to steal a horse. The laws to protect motor car owners, enacted by the last legislature, are being compiled by John L. Sullivan, secretary of state. Practically every offense concerning the theft of or tampering with motor cars, previously a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine and jail sentence, is made a felony.

Because of an error, one of the most stringent provisions of the new anti-motor thief laws is nullified. The legislature provided that to start or to attempt to start a motor car should be a felony, punishable by from two to five years in the penitentiary. The phrase, "attempt to start," was added to the old law, but omitted from the enrolled bill signed by the governor

The law now makes it a felony to deface or change an engine number or change any factory identification marks, of all cars stored with them. Failure to do so is made a misdemeanor.

Under that law the secretary of state must be notified of the sale of any motor car within five days. The name and address of the seller must be given. The names of both parties to the sale must be indorsed on the application for a transfer of motor car licenses and subscribed to in the presence of a notary public or some other official. This law was designed to make difficult the sale of stolen motor cars. If a similar law were enacted by the surrounding states the secretary of state believes that traffic in stolen cars could be stopped.

State license tags have been issued so far this year to 204,000 motor car owners. This number reached only 188,000 for the entire previous year. The secretary of state has a card index system by which the names of owners of cars can be learned from either license numbers or engine numbers.

DRESSMAKER SAVED FROM OPERATION

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Time.

Ithaca, N.Y.—"Three years ago I suffered from pains in my right side, so severe that I could not raise my feet from the floor. Pains would shoot down my limbs and through my back, and the doctor said I had an abscess. I was in bed two weeks with an icebag on my side and expected any day that I might have to go to a hospital for an operation. A friend came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it, and after taking six bottles I feel well and strong, do my own work and do dressmaking for others. I cannot speak too highly of your medicine and recommend it to others who suffer with female trouble. It is a Godsend to ailing women, and you may use my name at any time."—Mrs. PERMILLA HULSIZER, 218 E. Fall St., Ithaca, N.Y.

MOTOR REVENUES DEVOTED TO MEET GOOD ROADS BONDS

In most states the motor-vehicle revenues are devoted to the maintenance and repair of the State roads or other improved highways. These States thus seem to have solved fairly well the knotty problem of how to secure sufficient funds to maintain the more important roads under the ever-increasing traffic requirements. As both the traffic and the revenues increase with the number of cars, there exists a possibility of so adusting the registration rates as to keep pace with the ever-growing maintenance charges.

Recently, however, a movement to capitalize the motor-vehicle revenues and devote these funds to road construction has been quite noticeable. This is especially true in those States which have a comparatively large number of cars and only a small mileage of improved roads. Thus, Illinois, last November, approved a bond issue of $60,000,000 for the construction of a system of State roads. The interest and principal of these bonds is to be paid entirely from the motor-vehicle revenues. There is no doubt that these revenues will prove sufficient for this purpose. The main question which remains is whether or not a satisfactory source of maintenance revenues can be secured so as to prevent these roads, when constructed, from deteriorating.

Farm Correspondence Courses.

Those who can not attend agricultural classes in a country school, high school or college need not wholly deprive themselves of agricultural instruction. Most of the state colleges of agriculture conduct extension or home study correspondence courses which bring the college as close to your door as your mail box.

Such courses are given credit toward a college degree in case the correspondent desires to continue to work to a completion of the course of study.

By taking advantage of this service the young person, or the farmer of maturer age, may be greatly benefitted and remain on the farm to put the knowledge thus gained into profitable practice.

"Ever drink any evidence?" asked the other.

"No, did you?"

"Piles of it," was the reply.

"How in the world did you manage to do that?" asked the man with the newspaper.

"Oh, I'm from Kansas," remarked the other, dryly.

REHABILITATION OF DISABLED.

Washington, D. C., June 30.—United States soldiers, sailors, and marines who are injured in the service of their country are receiving special consideration at the hands of the United States Civil Service Commission and the Federal Board for Vocational Education, working in cooperation.

When the Civil Service Commission receives an application for examination from a discharged Yank, whose physical condition is such that he would not ordinarily be accepted, his case is referred to the Federal Board for Vocational Education. The Federal Board turns the matter over to a field officer who promptly goes out after the man and offers him the services of the Board's organization for special training to fit him for the work for which he has applied, or for some other employment if it does not seem practicable to train him for the work for which he made application to the Civil Service Commission. Hundreds of such cases have been referred to the Federal Board by the Civil Service Commission.

Under a recent amendment of the Civil Service Rules, made on the recommendation of the Civil Service Commission, the Commission may quirements in favor of a disabled and waive the established physical rehonorably discharged soldier, sailor, or marine, upon the certification of the Federal Board for Vocational Education that he has been specially trained for and has passed a practical test demonstrating his physical ability to perform the duties of the class of positions in which employment is sought.

The Explosion of An Ancient Legend

A LETTER received last week from one who signs himself "Constant User" asks why the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) insists that the gravity test for gasoline is a fallacy.

Not having his address we are answering the inquiry here.

When the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) began manufacturing gasoline the surest, safest, most practical method known for determining the quality of the product was by testing it with a hydrometer.

In those days all of the crude oil used came from a single locality. It was of the same base always and the products refined from it were uniform.

As the industry grew and oil wells were found in widely separated localities it was discovered that the crude varied so greatly even when taken from wells in the same locality that the hydrometer no longer could be depended upon to indicate the quality of the refined product with satisfactory exactness.

Some other system of measurement had to be used.

The chemical engineers employed by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), who were asked to solve the problem, suggested that the boiling points of the several fractions, which go to make gasoline, would give the desired result. They would be constant and the usefulness of the product would not vary so long as the range of boiling point fractions remained unchanged.

The practical usefulness of the suggestion was instantly recognized, and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) immediately adopted it as the basis of their manufacturing practice.

By making its product conform to the boiling point standard, it was possible to guarantee uniform results at all times, even though the hydrometer might show variation in gravity.

We know uniformity is of the most vital importance to the ultimate consumer. That is why we insist that gravity is of no value in determining the value of gasoline as a fuel, because it can not indicate the gaps.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is steadfast in its endeavor to render the greatest service possible to the motoring public and it is constantly trying to so improve the fuel and oils it sells as to give to its patrons a greater value for the money they spend with it.

JUVENILE CLUB AIDS WORK OF COMMUNITY HEN ASSOCIATIONS

Poultry breeding associations are usually the outgrowth of pioneer work in organizing boys and girls into poultry clubs or of repeated efforts to interest producers in better poultry methods. In some instances, however, leaders in communities have expressed their desire to make an effort to establish for themselves a business or side line that will add to their incomes as individuals and likewise increase the prosperity of the community.

In such promising localities, the first step in organization usually is to get the support of local business men. In In small towns many business men own farms and consequently are interested in agriculture, which in turn benefits the various lines of business. At the same time their assistance is helpful in financing the association. In fact this is frequently accomplished by inducing the business men's association to contribute a suitable fund for standard-bred stock which is to be distributed among the farmers who join the association. Co-operation of that kind is usually obtained easily if the business men are shown the advantages of the organization and how the increased prosperity eventually will benefit them.

Another plan that has proved to be satisfactory in Overton County, Tenn., is direct financial assistance from the banks. In this case the banks advanced $1,000 to be invested in breeding pens through the cooperation of the poultry clug agent and the county agricultural agent. Each pen consisted of 10 hens or pullets and a male bird which cost on an average $2.50 a bird. The pens were placed with club members in the various communities. Each person who received a pen guaranteed to return, after the first year, 20 fowls in payment for the original 10 hens or pullets furnished him. Those 20 standard-bred fowls, together with 2 selected male birds, were divided into two pens and the next year were given under the same conditions to two additional club members. One of the requirements of the plan was the continuance of this "endless-chain" system for 5 years, or until every member possessed at least one pen of standard-bred fowls. Thus the original pens have been multiplied by many hundreds, and the entire county has become well stocked with one breed of fowls.

Washington, June 28.—American casualties during the 47-day Meuse-Argonne offensive aggregated 120,000 men, or 10 per cent of the total of 1,200,000 engaged, according to a "statistical summary of the war with Germany," prepared by Col. Leonard P. Ayres, chief of the statistical branch of the general staff, and published by the War Department.

"Of every one hundred American soldiers and sailors who took part in the war with Germany," the report said, "two were killed or died of disease during the period of hostilities. In the Northern Army during the Civil War the number was about ten. Among the other great nations in this war between twenty and twenty-five in each one hundred called to the colors were killed or died."

Best information obtainable by the general staff places the total battle deaths for all belligerents at 7,450,200, divided as follows:

Russia	1,700,000
Germany	1,600,000
France	1,385,300

American wounded in war, 236,000.

American deaths from disease, 56,991.

Total deaths in the army, 112,422.

Under the head of "sources of the army," the report shows that 13 per cent came from the Regular Army, 10 per cent from the National Guard and 77 per cent from the draft.

A concise history of the military operations in which American troops took part is given in a chapter headed "Two hundred days of battle." Attention was called to the fact that "two of every three American soldiers who reached France took part in battle."

SHE'D WALK 20 MILES TO TELL OF TANLAC

Miss McKenzie Gains 25 Pounds On Taking Tanlac—Health Is Restored.

"I have gained twenty-five pounds on Tanlac and would willingly walk twenty miles to tell any sufferer how much it has helped me," said Miss Adela A. McKenzie, 426 Sixth Ave., South Nashville, Tenn.

"I suffered from attacks of nervous prostration for eighteen months," she continued, "I had no appetite and after eating anything my stomach would burn terribly. I would feel hot all over my pulse would seem to stop and then I would turn cold and numb. I was so nervous that I couldn't keep still and became so weak I could hardly get around.

"By the time I had finished my second bottle of Tanlac my appetite had returned and my troubles began to leave me, that numb feeling disappeared, the burning sensation passed away and now I can eat anything I want. All my nervousness is gone, I sleep like a child, and my health is now fully restored."

"Tanlac is sold in Maryville by Koch Pharmacy, in Conception Junction by A. M. Colly, in Pickering by H. M. Lincoln, in Burlington Junction by Carter Pharmacy, in Barnard by Bear Drug Co., in Elmo by King Drug Co., in Clearmont by Dr. W. H. Wiley, in Ravenwood by C. A. Shunk, and in Arkoe by Rufus R. AMERICAN LEGION GROWING.

Jefferson City, June 30.—Adjutant General Harvey C. Clark, state chairnounces that twenty-seven posts of the American Legion already have been chartered in Missouri and that within thirty days there will be one or more posts in every county in the state. In some counties only one post has been organized while in others there are two or more. St. Louis has four. A special effort is being made to organize new posts over the state and to increase the membership of those already organized. On July 4, it is confidently expected that every Missouri soldier sailor or marine will be a member of the American Legion.

Facing Death Brings Out True Qualities of Men, He Said; Advises Home Folks to Be Generous in Their Praise of Heroes

Rev. Robin Gould, former pastor of the Hundley Methodist church at St. Joseph, who has just returned from service overseas as a chaplain in the United States Army, being attached to the 89th Division, spoke at the South Methodist church at the service yesterday morning.

Rev. Gould did not touch upon the grewsome side of the life in the triotic and religious character of the American doughboys which underlaid trenches, but rather told of the patheir rough manner and talk.

"Just before my division went into the Argonne," said Rev. Gould, "we held a short religious meeting, and it was wonderful the way these men, just about to face death itself, revealed true character. Many of them sat in the dug outs and read their Bibles, and practically every man in the division wrote letters to their dear ones at home. The American soldier was not a saint before he went over, and his life over in France did not help to make him so while there, but he was not a heathen and the great majority held a belief in the great God above."

Rev. Gould stated that the American soldiers were prone to grumbling and dissatisfaction when they were in comparatively safe quarters, but that when they were up in the front lines suffering the tortures of a veritable hell, they never had a word of complaint, and were thoroughly loyal to their country and the great cause for which they were fighting.

The speaker brought out that many of the charges of graft against the French and English, were really German propaganda, and that although the American soldiers did not always get along well with the foreign troops, due to a great extent through misunderstanding of language and customs, it was usually in petty matters that the trouble came about, and that all the Allied soldiers were brothers in the fight for the great cause of freedom and humanity.

In speaking of the after effects of the war, Rev. Gould told his audience that the United States should be on her guard now more than ever before, for intemperence and evil. "We must continue to fight for the high ideals for which we went into this war," he said, "and there must be no slackening of the lines. The men who went over there had a lofty purpose in mind which they were willing to give their lives for, and it would be a great wrong if the thousands of lives which were given in the great conflict, were sacrificed in vain for these principles."

"After such a struggle, such as we have just passed through, it is natural for the reaction to come which will take us back to a place even lower than that before the war, and it is such a thing that we must continually guard against."

At the close of his address Rev. Gould told of the idea of home coming which sustained the boys through the darkest days on the battle fronts, and he urged that this home coming be as bright and cheerful and enthusiastic as the home folks could possibly make it. "Do not be afraid of spoiling the boys with too much praise," he said, "they are deserving of all that can possibly be given them and more too."

CAPTAIN WALLIS AT HOME

Was First Nodaway County Physician to Enter Military Service—To Resume Practice at Once.

Captain William M. Wallis, Jr., arrived in the city Saturday evening from a fifteen months' absence in the army medical service. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wallis, who has been living in New York City during her husband's absence abroad.

Captain Wallis was the first Nodaway county physician to enter military service and shortly after his induction, he was sent to France. He was appointed chief of the operating staff in the hospital at Souilly, France, a hospital on the front line, and he remained there until after the signing of the armistice. He was then appointed chief of the evacuation hospital at Dax, France, and was there until January first. Since that time Captain Wallis, has been chief of the surgical service in the evacuation hospital at Bordeaux, France. During this time 20,000 men have been received and discharged through the hospital.

Wallis will resume his practice here, taking his partnership again with Dr. Charles T. Bell, who returned to Maryville April 1, after a period of military service.

ONLY 13 LICENSES ISSUED BY THE COUNTY RECORDER THIS MONTH

NOT A "BRIDAL MONTH"

Fewer Marriegs in June Than Any Month Yet Except March—Many Brides in Cities.

In many communities it is reported that June has been a great month for marriages and that June brides are as popular as the poets would have us believe. Nodaway county, however, following its traditional tendency had comparatively few marriages in "the bridal month." Only thirteen marriage licenses were issued by County Recorder Dan R. Baker, for June, the smallest number of licenses issued during this month for many years. 1919 has been a poor year for brides, at the best, and with the exception of March, June had fewer brides to its credit than any month of this year.

In looking over the records in the recorder's office one is impressed by the fact that June has always stood near the bottom of the list in such matters. This is probably due to the fact that Nodaway county is primarily an agricultural community and young couples prefer to make their start in life with the beginning of activities on the farm in the spring. The records bear out this theory.

The large number of June brides in the cities this year may be attributed to the fact that many soldiers are now returning and numerous romances, delayed by the war, are culminating in marriages.

THE TACHINA FLY AND WHITE WASP-LIKE INSECT BUSY

FEW FALL ARMY WORM

The second crop of Army worms is due to come sometime in September but there is little danger that they will come in sufficient numbers to cause any material damage to the crops.

The chief reason for this is that two different parasites are working on them and will continue to do so the rest of the summer, killing most of them before they will be old enough to do any damage.

One of these parasites is a white wasp-like insect which emerges from the cocoon stage and attacks the Army worm, destroying great hosts of them. These parasites are very small, being hardly visible to the naked eye.

The other parasite is known as the Tachina Fly. The Tachina Fly is a larger, blockier fly than the well known house fly with white lines running lengthwise its thorax and white spots on the front of the wings. This fly lays its eggs upon the Army worm in the worm stage which eggs hatch out into maggots that feed upon the worm and gradually kill it.

Many of these flys have already hatched out, although they can still be found in the ground in the pupa stage. The pupa of the Tachina is dark reddish in color and can be discovered by digging around the roots of the alfalfa stalks.

The Army worm will be in the moth stage in about a week now and will remain in that stage for a period of three or four weeks. Examinations of the alfalfa experimental field this morning by Prof. L. F. Metzler of the State Teachers College showed that the Tachina Fly is very active and that the Army worms are being destroyed in great numbers so that there is little danger of a repetition of the destruction of a month ago by the pest.

The Bedford Nine Was Taken Into Camp by a 9 to 0 Count.

The Maryville Comets added another victory to their growing list yesterday by defeating the Bedford aggregation with a 9 to 0 count. Bedford got off to a bad start in the first inning when the Comets garnered 5 runs. Three hits were all that Bedford could find Bluel for while the local boys touched Lewis for five hits. Despite the one-sided score the game was fast and interesting throughout.

The crowd at yesterday's contest was not as large as it should have been Unquestionably the home team is "going good" and deserves more support than it has been receiving of late. So far this season only one game has gone to the visitors and that by a comparatively close margin.

Manager Black has arranged for a game to be played with Albany the Fourth. Since this is the only attraction for those who remain in the city to celebrate that day to attend, a record breaking crowd is looked for.

Next Sunday the fast Stuppy Florals of St. Joseph will attempt to put a crimp in the local aggregation's hopes for another victory. This promises to be a game that will put the Comets to the "acid test."

JOHN BARLEYCORN MUST ABDICATE

OLD SALOON A MEMORY

For First Time in History the Nation Will Be Legally Dry—Little Hope for "Wets" Now.

Tonight at 12 o'clock King John Barleycorn withh abdicate and nation wide prohibition will become a realty.

The reign of King John has been a long and eventful one but his day of power is at an end and his banishment is final. He still has numerous friends but, like most kings, the number of his friends are in the minority and unable to prevent the inevitable.

Tomorrow the sun will rise for the first time in the history of the country on a legally dry nation. The buying of alcoholic beverages over the bar will be only a memory, and like most memories, with the passing of time will lose its glamor and become a tradition to be told the next generation.

The swinging door of the "poor mans club" will not close in many instances, though, for the Salvation Army is of the opinion that the corner saloon is possible of a great transformation into a gathering place where much good may be done. The bar fixtures, the railing, and in many cases the bar tenders will be retained and will dispense soft drinks of various kinds.

There is a slight possibility that the saloons may open up for a few months prior to the time when the constitutional dry amendment will go into force next January, if the president by proclamation should declare the war at an end and demobilization to a peace time basis completed. This possibility has many difficulties in its way, however, for there is a question whether the war will be legally over until the Senate ratifies the peace treaty which, according to present indications, will take some time to materalize.

Croy to Speak at S. T. C.

Homer Croy, writer and humorist, a former Maryville boy, will address the students of the State Teachers College at the regular assembly tomorrow morning at 9:35. The public is invited to attend.

SKIDMORE MAN KILLED AT ST. JOSEPH YESTERDAY

Ashley C. Littler Struck by Burlington Train Near Francis Street Depot Survived by Brother and Sister.

Ashley C. Littler, 60 years old, a resident of Skidmore, was killed yesterday afternoon near the Francis street depot in St. Joseph, when he was struck by a Burlington passenger train.

His body was hurled several feet and death occurred a few moments after the accident. Witnesses say he was standing between two sets of tracks. He plans to devote the greater portion of the voyage to resting. The President is preparing to address Congress, reviewing what has taken place since the discussions opened. Numerous messages of congratulation continued to come in to the President this morning. BONE DRY JULY 1?

Washington, June 30.—That John Barleycorn, although battered and bruised has not given up the ghost without a struggle, was evident from the situation on the event of the war time prohibition becoming effective. With no enforcement code enacted, and with the President having plainly said that he would set aside the band if he had the authority, just how bone dry the country could be, was merely a matter of conjecture today. The enforcement code which was reported to have been laid out by the House Judiciary committee, cannot be passed within two weeks, and it is believed that it will be enacted only after a bitter fight. The department of justice officials are making preparations, it was learned today to prosecute all direct violations of the war time law, from tomorrow until the enforcement code is enacted.

MEMBER MISSOURI PRESS ASSOCIATION

Breweries and Distilleries Now Operating Along Other Lines; 5,000,000 Acres More for Food.

Despite the various efforts to stay the coming into effect of prohibition there is in progress a pretty general adaptation of the manufacturing properties to other industrial uses, is the conclusion of Lindley D. Clark, in an article on the subject which is to appear in the forthcoming Monthly Labor Review for June. To some extent at least, Mr. Clark finds, barroom fixtures will be found available for continued use, and the "poor man's club," as the saloon has been called by various classes of persons, will be still available if initiated plans prove successful.

These plans contemplate the transforming of the saloons into places where soft drinks may be sold anad refreshments served by former bartenders. The Salvation Army has already made a beginning in this line of work in Baltimore and New York, and its extension is in view for the large cities of the country.

Mention is made of two efforts that are now under way to stay the effect of the prohibition amendment that has legally been adopted by 45 of the 48 States. The first attempt is an attack on the authority of the legislatures in those States which have the referendum to ratify the amendment. The argument on which such line of procedure is based is that under the referendum the legislative authority of the State is reserved to the people and the legislature may not ratify if referendum is invoked.

The other line of attack rests upon a resolution adopted by the legislature of Rhode Island in which the attorney general of that State was directed to begin action in the name of the State to contest the constitutionality upon the police power of the State and "contrary to the spirit and system of the dual form of government erected by the Constitution."

Little encouragement is held out to those who hope sentiment among the returning soldiers will effect a repeal of the prohibition amendment. The remark has been frequently made that when the soldiers return to civil life there will be a vigorous and effective protest against the action taken in their absence. No real preponderance of opinion has been obtained on this point, but both friends and opponents of the measure confidently announce enthusiastic approval or disapproval of their respective views by the soldiers with whom they have come into contact.

It seems reasonable to assume that as they represent the whole area of the country, so also do they represent the diverse opinions in an average ration, and that no unity of action is to be expected from them on this or any similar question on which men differ. Furthermore, the Congress which submitted the amendment was elected in 1916, with all voters at home, and with the attitude of candidates on the question an issue in many congressional districts.

Industrial conditions resultant upon the inception of prohibition have been in a large measure anticipated. The end of the use of grain and other materials in distilleries necessarily meant the closing of such places when materials in process of manufacture were worked up, and in the abnormal conditions of the time the distribution of the workers caused little, if any, disturbance. The breweries, too, tho in less degree, have already made partial adjustments and are converted into plants for a variety of uses, as cold-storage plants, packing houses, ice factories, canneries, creameries, factories for the production of soft drinks, ice cream, syrup, paint, soap and chemicals.

A large development is forecast in the production of denatured alcohol for industrial purposes, using for this purpose many products not suitable for the manufacture of spirits for beverage use. It has been estimated that the produce of 5,000,000 acres of land will become available for food in place of being consumed in the manufacture of intoxicants.

"Printer's Devil.

There is a reason for all the colloquialisms used in the trades, the expressions being generally used, while the explanations of origin is usually known to only a few. Next to the word "scab," which is now well enough known to be put in a dictionary, the one probably most familiar to the public is the "printer's devil." Ninety per cent of the printers do not know why he is so called.

Aluds Manutius, the story goes, was a printer in Venice to the holy church and the doge, and employed a negro boy to help him in his office. The boy was believed to be an imp of Satan by superstitious people of Venice and in order to protect him from persecution Manutius made a public exhibition of him and invited any who did not believe he was flesh and blood to come forward and pinch him. The people were satisfied, but the name, "the printer's devil," had come into too general use to be dropped, and to this day the young imps of Satan who go in a printing office to learn the trade are called printer's devils.

JEFFERSON CITY LETTER

Interest in Road Work in State Is the Greatest Ever—Bonds Issued and Up for Vote Reach $33,599,175.

By MEANS RAY.

Interest in road building in Missouri is far greater than ever in the history of the state and every indication points to the construction of several thousand miles of the best roads in the country during the coming year.

Bond issues have been voted or plans are being made to vote them in counties which bring the total amount to $33,599,715, to this will be added a like amount from the state and federal governments which will make the improvements during the next year, from bonds alone, reach a total of approximately $67,000,000.

In addition to this will be added the regular road levy and poll tax of the state and special taxes which are being levied in the state.

Money and work donated during the year is estimated at $2,000,000 by the State Highway Commission which gave out the figures on which this article is based.

A. W. Graham, chief engineer of the Commission, is more than enthused with the interest that is being shown by the people of the state and expresses the belief that more than double the amount now proposed by the people of the state will be provided by bond issues in addition to the $60,000,000 issue submitted by the legislature on recommendation of Governor Gardner.

The following are the counties which have selected dates for bond issues or are circulating petitions calling for a submission of the question:

Green, $2,000,000; Laclede, $250,000; Texas, $225,000; Howell, $500,000; Jasper, $250,00; St. Francois, $1,000,000; Franklin, $1,000,000; Phelps, $400,000; Warren, $400,000; Dunklin, $230,000; Butler, $500,000; Oregon, $300,000; Stoddard, $200,000; Ripley, $120,000; Scott, $261,465; Gentry, $100,000; Clay $100,250; Harrison, $113,000; Livingston, $1,250,000; Atchison, $1,000,000; Andrew, $1,250,000; DeKalb, $1,250,000; Clinton, $1,250,000; Ray, 1,250,000; Nodaway, $2,000,000; Davies, $1,000,000; Carroll, $1,100,000; Macon, $500,000; Shelby, $1,000,000; Monroe, $1,500,000; Linn, $1,000,000; Sullivan, $1,000,000; Putnam, $750,000; Marion, $1,500,000; Adair, $750,000.

Bonds aggregating several millions have been voted heretofore in the state. Some of the counties having done so are. St. Louis, $3,000,000; Buchanan, $2,000,000; Scott, $1,000,000; New Madrid, $500,000; Wayne, $300,000; Cole, $300,000.

Special road districts all over the state have voted an amount which it is thought will aggregate more than the county issues.

The Equal Suffrage League of the state held an interesting meeting here Monday. At a banquet given during the evening a number of excellent talks were made. Ben M. Neale, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and other political leaders, were here for the meeting. The women were strong in their desire for a League of Nations and many were the expressions favoring this method of world peace. They maintain the mother knows what war means.

TUBERCULOSIS IN CATTLE.

Jefferson City, June 30.—That there is a wide range of difference in the actual value of cattle from a clean herd as compared to those from herds infected with tuberculosis, and that all cattle for dairy or breeding purposes should be tested before being bought and paid for, is the advice of State Veterinarian Dr. D. F. Luckey of the Missouri Board of Agriculture.

Prospective purchasers of cattle for dairy or breeding purposes are warned to have such cattle carefully tested or tuberculosis by some competent veterinarian. Recent state and federal inspections have shown that numberous innocent purchasers have been the victims of shrewd dealers in tuberculous cattle.

In one shipment of 31 yearling cattle from Iowa a recent test found 22 diseased with tuberculosis. In another case, four different Iowa herds since January 1, were found diseased and have been condemned on account of tuberculosis.

It appears that the inspection of cattle for tuberculosis is sometimes inefficient or even dishonest. Therefore, it is highly advisable that all valuable breeding stuff be held in isolation for 90 days and retested. Cattle coming from outside of the state should be bought subject to this retest.

The new Missouri indemnity law effective on and after May 13, 1919, provides that no indemnity can be paid for any animal unless the purchaser demands and secures an offfcial certificate of health from the seller. In neglecting to secure and preserve the proper certificate of health on newly purchased stock the owner there after endangers his rghts to indemnity under the state law.

A YOUTHFUL ADVENTURESS

Seven-Year Old Maryville Girl Had Struck Out to Find Mother in Kansas City.

A little girl, seven years old, got off the Burlington train from Maryville, Mo., yesterday afternoon and walked into the Union Passenger Station. She went to Mrs. Annie Walker, the Y. M. C. A. Traveler's Aid secretary. She gave her name and said she was going to Kansas City to visit an aunt. However, she had but 57 cents, all in pennies, and in a little bank. Mrs. Walker decided to investigate the case before sending the child on her way and taak her to the Nora Hundley Home for the night. Then the facts came out. The little gorl's parents were divorced and both have remarried. She lives with her father, but didn't like her stepmother and had determined to make her way to her mother, whose address, in Kansas City, she did not know.

Her father, Ray Protzman, of Maryville, was notified and he came today to claim her.—St. Joseph News-Press

RECORD MOTOR CAR SALES

Jefferson City, June 30.—Stealing a motor car in Missouri now is as grave an offense as it has been to steal a horse. The laws to protect motor car owners, enacted by the last legislature, are being compiled by John L. Sullivan, secretary of state. Practically every offense concerning the theft of or tampering with motor cars, previously a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine and jail sentence, is made a felony.

Because of an error, one of the most stringent provisions of the new anti-motor thief laws is nullified. The legislature provided that to start or to attempt to start a motor car should be a felony, punishable by from two to five years in the penitentiary. The phrase, "attempt to start," was added to the old law, but omitted from the enrolled bill signed by the governor.

The law now makes it a felony to deface or change an engine number or change any factory identification marks, of all cars stored with them. Failure to do so is made a misdemeanor.

Under that law the secretary of state must be notified of the sale of any motor car within five days. The name and address of the seller must be given. The names of both parties to the sale must be indorsed on the application for a transfer of motor car licenses and subscribed to in the presence of a notary public or some other official. This law was designed to make difficult the sale of stolen motor cars. If a similar law were enacted by the surrounding states the recovery of state believes that traffic in stolen cars could be stopped.

State license tags have been issued so far this year to 204,000 motor car owners. This number reached only 188,000 for the entire previous year. The secretary of state has a card index system by which the names of owners of cars can be learned from either license numbers or engine numbers.

MOTOR REVENUES DEVOTED TO MEET GOOD ROADS BONDS

In most states the motor-vehicle revenues are devoted to the maintenance and repair of the State roads or other improved highways. These States thus seem to have solved fairly well the knotty problem of how to secure sufficient funds to maintain the more important roads under the ever-increasing traffic requirements. As both the traffic and the revenues increase with the number of cars, there exists a possibility of so adusting the registration rates as to keep pace with the ever-growing maintenance charges.

Recently, however, a movement to capitalize the motor-vehicle revenues and devote these funds to road construction has been quite noticeable. This is especially true in those States which have a comparatively large number of cars and only a small mileage of improved roads. Thus, Illinois, last November, approved a bond issue of $60,000,000 for the construction of a system of State roads. The interest and principal of these bonds is to be paid entirely from the motor-vehicle revenues. There is no doubt that these revenues will prove sufficient for this purpose. The main question which remains is whether or not a satisfactory source of maintenance revenues can be secured so as to prevent these roads, when constructed, from deteriorating.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK BRIGHT.

St. Louis, June 30.—The business outlook in the Eighth Federal Reserve District is bright, according to the monthly report on business conditions just issued. Dealers in every line of merchandise are reporting business steady and improving. Many are placing future orders.

There is a great need of labor in the regions where harvesting of wheat is beginning and where cotton and corn require cultivation, the report states. A strong demand for labor exists in most lines of business and unemployment has decreased since last month, it is said.

Homecoming at Otis Smith Farm Yesterday.

Over one hundred neighbors and friends of Otis Smith, who resides about 10 miles northwest of Maryville gathered at his home yesterday, the occasion being a "homecoming" celebration for the boys of that neighborhood who have returned from service.

Judge J. M. Dawson, of this city delivered the principal address of the afternoon, his talk being along patriotic lines. Among the service men in whose honor the affair was given were: Jesse Tanner, Harry Piveral, James Meek, Lawrence Asher, John L. Curry and Delma Carmichael.

Farm Correspondence Courses.

Those who can not attend agricultural classes in a country school, high school or college need not wholly deprive themselves of agricultural instruction. Most of the state colleges of agriculture conduct extension or home study correspondence courses which bring the college as close to your door as your mail box.

Such courses are given credit toward a college degree in case the correspondent desires to continue to work to a completion of the course of study.

By taking advantage of this service the young person, or the farmer of maturer age, may be greatly benefitted and remain on the farm to put the knowledge thus gained into profitable practice.

DID HE DRINK EVIDENCE? SURE!—HE'S A KANSAN.

Columbus, O., June 29.—Two casual acquaintances were standing in the lobby of one of the leading hotels in Columbus when one of them bought a paper and read: "Two District Attorneys' offices have 5,680 quarts of 100 proof whiskey which is being held as evidence.

"Ever drink any evidence?" asked the other.

"No, did you?"

"Piles of it," was the reply.

"How in the world did you manage to do that?" asked the man with the newspaper.

"Oh, I'm from Kansas," remarked the other, dryly.

REHABILITATION OF DISABLED.

Washington, D. C., June 30.—United States soldiers, sailors, and marines who are injured in the service of their country are receiving special consideration at the hands of the United States Civil Service Commission and the Federal Board for Vocational Education, working in cooperation.

When the Civil Service Commission receives an application for examination from a discharged Yank, whose physical condition is such that he would not ordinarily be accepted, his case is referred to the Federal Board for Vocational Education. The Federal Board turns the matter over to a field officer who promptly goes out after the man and offers him the services of the Board's organization for special training to fit him for the work for which he has applied, or for some other employment if it does not seem practicable to train him for the work for which he made application to the Civil Service Commission. Hundreds of such cases have been referred to the Federal Board by the Civil Service Commission.

Under a recent amendment of the Civil Service Rules, made on the recommendation of the Civil Service Commission, the Commission may quirements in favor of a disabled and waive the established physical rehonorably discharged soldier, sailor, or marine, upon the certification of the Federal Board for Vocational Education that he has been specially trained for and has passed a practical test demonstrating his physical ability to perform the duties of the class of positions in which employment is sought.

The Explosion of An Ancient Legend

A LETTER received last week from one who signs himself "Constant User" asks why the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) insists that the gravity test for gasoline is a fallacy.

Not having his address we are answering the inquiry here.

When the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) began manufacturing gasoline the surest, safest, most practical method known for determining the quality of the product was by testing it with a hydrometer.

In those days all of the crude oil used came from a single locality. It was of the same base always and the products refined from it were uniform.

As the industry grew and oil wells were found in widely separated localities it was discovered that the crude varied so greatly even when taken from wells in the same locality that the hydrometer no longer could be depended upon to indicate the quality of the refined product with satisfactory exactness.

Some other system of measurement had to be used.

The chemical engineers employed by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), who were asked to solve the problem, suggested that the boiling points of the several fractions, which go to make gasoline, would give the desired result. They would be constant and the usefulness of the product would not vary so long as the range of boiling point fractions remained unchanged.

The practical usefulness of the suggestion was instantly recognized, and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) immediately adopted it as the basis of their manufacturing practice.

By making its product conform to the boiling point standard, it was possible to guarantee uniform results at all times, even though the hydrometer might show variation in gravity.

We know uniformity is of the most vital importance to the ultimate consumer. That is why we insist that gravity is of no value in determining the value of gasoline as a fuel, because it can not indicate the gaps.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is steadfast in its endeavor to render the greatest service possible to the motoring public and it is constantly trying to so improve the fuel and oils it sells as to give to its patrons a greater value for the money they spend with it.

JUVENILE CLUB AIDS WORK OF COMMUNITY HEN ASSOCIATIONS

Poultry breeding associations are usually the outgrowth of pioneer work in organizing boys and girls into poultry clubs or of repeated efforts to interest producers in better poultry methods. In some instances, however, leaders in communities have expressed their desire to make an effort to establish for themselves a business or side line that will add to their incomes as individuals and likewise increase the prosperity of the community.

In such promising localities, the first step in organization usually is to get the support of local business men. In In small towns many business men own farms and consequently are interested in agriculture, which in turn benefits the various lines of business. At the same time their assistance is helpful in financing the association. In fact this is frequently accomplished by inducing the business men's association to contribute a suitable fund for standard-bred stock which is to be distributed among the farmers who join the association. Co-operation of that kind is usually obtained easily if the business men are shown the advantages of the organization and how the increased prosperity eventually will benefit them.

Another plan that has proved to be satisfactory in Overton County, Tenn., is direct financial assistance from the banks. In this case the banks advanced $1,000 to be invested in breeding pens through the cooperation of the poultry clug agent and the county agricultural agent. Each pen consisted of 10 hens or pullets and a male bird which cost on an average $2.50 a bird. The pens were placed with club members in the various communities. Each person who received a pen guaranteed to return, after the first year, 20 fowls in payment for the original 10 hens or pullets furnished him. Those 20 standard-bred fowls, together with 2 selected male birds, were divided into two pens and the next year were given under the same conditions to two additional club members. One of the requirements of the plan was the continuance of this "endless-chain" system for 5 years, or until every member possessed at least one pen of standard-bred fowls. Thus the original pens have been multiplied by many hundreds, and the entire county has become well stocked with one breed of fowls.

Washington, June 28.—American casualties during the 47-day Meuse-Argonne offensive aggregated 120,000 men, or 10 per cent of the total of 1,200,000 engaged, according to a "statistical summary of the war with Germany," prepared by Col. Leonard P. Ayres, chief of the statistical branch of the general staff, and published by the War Department.

A concise history of the military operations in which American troops took part is given in a chapter headed "Two hundred days of battle." Attention was called to the fact that "two of every three American soldiers who reached France took part in battle."

SHE'D WALK 20 MILES TO TELL OF TANLAC

Miss McKenzie Gains 25 Pounds On Taking Tanlac—Health Is Restored.

"I have gained twenty-five pounds on Tanlac and would willingly walk twenty miles to tell any sufferer how much it has helped me," said Miss Adela A. McKenzie, 426 Sixth Ave., South Nashville, Tenn.

"I suffered from attacks of nervous prostration for eighteen months," she continued, "I had no appetite and after eating anything my stomach would burn terribly. I would feel hot all over my pulse would seem to stop and then I would turn cold and numb. I was so nervous that I couldn't keep still and became so weak I could hardly get around.

"By the time I had finished my second bottle of Tanlac my appetite had returned and my troubles began to leave me, that numb feeling disappeared, the burning sensation passed away and now I can eat anything I want. All my nervousness is gone, I sleep like a child, and my health is now fully restored."

"Tanlac is sold in Maryville by Koch Pharmacy, in Conception Junction by A. M. Colly, in Pickering by H. M. Lincoln, in Burlington Junction by Carter Pharmacy, in Barnard by Bear Drug Co., in Elmo by King Drug Co., in Clearmont by Dr. W. H. Wiley, in Ravenwood by C. A. Shunk, and in Arkoe by Rufus R. AMERICAN LEGION GROWING.

Jefferson City, June 30.—Adjutant General Harvey C. Clark, state chairnounces that twenty-seven posts of the American Legion already have been chartered in Missouri and that within thirty days there will be one or more posts in every county in the state. In some counties only one post has been organized while in others there are two or more. St. Louis has four. A special effort is being made to organize new posts over the state and to increase the membership of those already organized. On July 4, it is confidently expected that every Missouri soldier sailor or marine will be a member of the American Legion.
